Having Trouble Logging in?

Whether you're a brand new customer or an existing customer logging into our new site for the first time, the process is slightly different but should still feel familiar to common everyday logins.

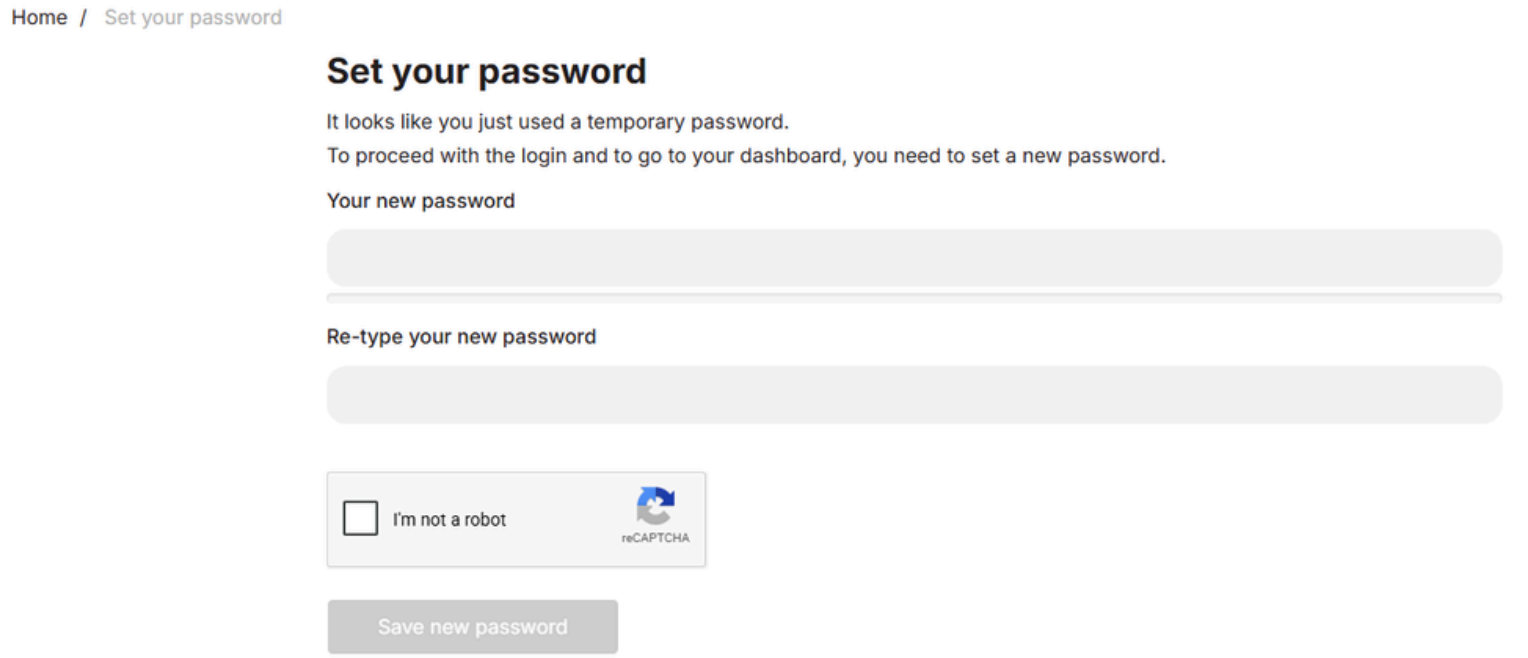

New Customers, please click the register button so that customer service can set your new account up correctly

Returning customers, please follow along to gain clarity on how to login to your account. A key difference is you'll login using an Email and Password as opposed to a Username and Password. If you share an email with other members in your office, then you will ALSO need a username.

You should have received a welcome email with a temporary password attached to it, for your first login you'll login with those credentials. Please check your spam folder if you can't find it, or reach out to IT@e-integritybiz.com and they will help you login.

When you get to the homepage find the login buttons indicated by a yellow box in this image.

When you login for the first time with your email and temporary password, you'll hit this page.

This is where you can set your permanent password. After hitting "Save New Password" you'll be logged in and can use that password with your email for future logins.

Important!

If you allow your browser to save your passwords, you'll want to make sure you update what it autofills so that you can login with your correct credentials!
